“Here at Sonic Hard Beverages, we value our partnership with our distributors. With that being said, we chose to become a member of the NBWA, participate in the trade show and sponsor the Welcome Reception at this Year’s NBWA Annual Convention because it presented us the opportunity to not only showcase both our existing and new products, but to thank our distributor partners and the NBWA for all that they do for our brand. The ROI we received from the NBWA speaks volumes as we have had members reach out to inquire about distribution and about future products down the road and how they could get involved.”

“Constellation Brands has enjoyed a long and collaborative membership with NBWA. We are a member and sponsor because of the good work that NBWA does on behalf of all beer distributors. They do a terrific job connecting stakeholders and sharing information, both through their digital offerings and their events that bring the beer industry together like no other. When we commit to a sponsorship through NBWA, we know we’re placing our organization in front of their wide network of beer and beverage distributors. And when I work with NBWA, I know I’m reaching like-minded individuals who are interested and dedicated to coming together, sharing best practices, and of course, having a cold beer.”

ASSOCIATE MEMBER VIEWPOINT

NBWA associate members are invited to submit educational articles quarterly for inclusion in the weekly email newsletter and posted on the NBWA website.

Follow these instructions and rules for “Associate Member Viewpoint” submissions:

- Content: Articles are subject to editorial review by NBWA. The contents of the article are to be educational in nature demonstrating your value and knowledge, discussing an industry topic of importance to beer and beverage distributors, and not a sales pitch. Please include a title for the viewpoint article, along with the author’s name, title and contact information.
- Length: Articles should be no longer than 1,200 words.
- Photos: If possible, please submit photos relevant to the topic discussed or headshots for the author.
- Submission Deadlines: Submissions are accepted on a rolling basis but are limited to one per quarter. NBWA staff will review your submission one time to ensure the material is educational and provide one round of feedback – submissions cannot be ad content. Associate members will then have the opportunity to resubmit updated educational content for publication. If the second submission still is not focused on education, NBWA will be unable to publish the content and the member will have the opportunity to resubmit the following quarter. Once the content has been reviewed, NBWA staff will work to publish the viewpoint article within two weeks, depending on the association’s communications calendar.
- Recent submission topics include the importance of retail data and insights in the bevalc supply chain, and fleet adaptability. You can find examples of published submissions, here and here.
